A large fireplace was of which sum was placed in the hands hearth stood a Christmas tree in miniature, and when all the little ones were assembled and the big ones too, for the latter always form a considerable part of the audiences on such occasions, the lights were turned down, there was a jingle of sleigh bells, and Santa Claus appeared in the chimney, and the delighted little ones saw with satisfaction that he had not left behind his pack. Then the presents were distributed and ice cream and cake was served. At one side in the room a representation of an old stone wayside cross stood, and at its foot the children were asked to leave their gifts for the poor, so that while receiving they also gave to those in need.

Santa Claus brought his wife when he visited the Sunday school children who were waiting for him last evening in the Sunday school room of the Congress Street.

Santa Claus brought his wife when he visited the Sunday school children who were waiting for him last evening in the Sunday school room of the Congress Street M. E. Church. He announced his coming over the telephone, which was located in the room, and so the children waited with the more partiage when they recovering the more patience when they were convinc-ed that he was really coming. When they did arrive they distributed presents and then disappeared with the same mystery that had marked their arrival. The following pro-

Street Presbyterian Church Sunday school yesterday appropriate carols were sung, with violin accompaniment, by Miss Josephine Appleby. Mr. Swindells and Dr. Lindsay added to the music by their cornet playing. A solo was rendered by Miss Appleby. There was a Christmas tree at John Wesley Church last evening. The services were opened with an invocation by the pastor, Rev. R. A. Fisher. The singing by the school was led by Miss Bungay, Miss Annie Brodle presiding at the organ. Master Robert Fisher made the address of the evening. Solos and recitations were next in order. The pastor was presented with a handsome inkstand. Brof. Crumpton received an umbrella. The presents were distributed by Misses Mabel Ingraham and Marie Brown.

Tabernacle Church.

Last evening the Sabbath school of the Tabernacle Church gave its Christmas entertainment, which was unique. A Dutch wind mill was built by Mess-s. Windsor, Williams and Haliday. Mr. Calian acted as miller, and by aid of the wind, caused by the beliows of the "Brownies." he ground out the Christmas presents. The mill was a substantial thing and a credit to the architect, Mr. John Windsor. The whole affair was in charge of Miss Rachel Garrett and the superintendent, Mr. Irving P. Tade. The program was as follows: Recitation, by Florence Fletcher; song, Prof. W. J. Stephens; Stocking Chorus, by ten children; song.

Florence Fletcher; song, Prof. W. J. Stephens; Stocking Chorus, by ten children; song, Ella Callan; recitation, Evellyn Willett; dialogue, Night After Christmas, Nellie Fletcher; Robbie and Linwood Peatros; song, The Mill, Prof. Stephens. It proved the most elaborate, refined and entertaining Christmas entertainment in the history of the church.

First Baptist Church.

The annual Sunday school Christmas celebration of the First Baptist Church, corner 16th and O streets, took place last evening, and, as usual, was highly successful and entertaining to members and visiting friends. Though quite lengthy the pro-exercises brought to a close at an early hour. The entertainment opened with singing by the school, which was followed by reading a selection from the Scripture and prayer by Dr. Stakely, the pastor. Recitations during the evening were given by Misses Marie Collier, Florence Holtzman, Emma Streaks and Edith Needham, each in a most creditable manner.

A tableau, entitled "A Christmas Group," as also a class recitation, "A Holiday Acrostic," and a pretty character song, "Rock-a-bye," by members of the primary department, attracted attention and applause. A gossip pantomime by six little girls of the intermediate department was particularly hoticeable and acceptable to the audience.

William F. Randel, who was substituted as attorney in the suit in place of the captain's attorneys some months ago, says that both parties to the suit appear to have overlooked the fact that under section 341 of the penal code they both appear to be liable to pay to the overseers of the poor of Suffolk county five times the amount of their wager as a penalty, inasmuch as more than $25 changed hands within twenty-four hours in the quiet little game at the Surf Hotel. What the game was Mr. Randel could not definitely say, but he strongly suspected that it was poker.

"Brazil and the South American republics were large buyers, but not half the quantity was shipped to Chile as in 1892. The woolen trade bears a bright aspect. Germany is our best customer for woolen and worsted yarns, taking nearly half the goods exported. The export of woolen tissues amounted in the first eleven months of 1892 to 64,835,158, compared with £5,231,146 in these months this year. The exports of worsted tissues, which amounted to £8,104,560 in 1892, fell to £7,561,732 in 1898."

The platform of Dumbarton Avenue M. E. Church last evening was crowded with children of the Sunday school of the church. They sang a number of selections sweetly. Four little maidens, dressed in gowns of white, appeared, carrying lighted candles, with which they welcomed their old friend Santa Claus, who came in with the merry ringing of the sleigh-bells and joyous exclamations of the children. A distribution of candy and fruit took place.
